

County Group Challenged 'To Accomplish Something'

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn has challenged a 15-member county commission to "accomplish something concrete and positive in the control of obscenity and pornography" to justify its existence.

"There's no reason to have a commission on obscenity and pornography if it is not working effectively," Hahn said.

He has been disappointed by the action of the commission, formed in 1964, because the problem of smut on the magazine stands and dirty films is becoming worse.

Hahn said he recognizes the State Legislature has preempted the field in controlling obscene literature, but called on the county commission to justify its existence or be disbanded.

Supervisors recently voted to keep the commission operating despite a report from Chief Administrative Officer L. J. Hollinger that it "is not possible to pinpoint how effective the commission has been in performing its duties directed toward the abatement of obscene and pornographic material."

The board, on Hahn's motion, called for monthly reports on the commission's activities.

Hahn also challenged the commission to "roll up its sleeves" and attack pornography at its source.

"Go into the print shops and demand that the unions refuse to print such filth.

"Go to the landlords who rent their buildings to smut publishers, go to the truckers, the Teamsters, and ask them to refuse to transport films and books that they wouldn't let their children see," Hahn said.

He added pornography was obviously a "billion dollar business" and is probably linked to organized crime.

"SEARCH out the people behind this and name names," Hahn urged the commission.

The controversy over disbarring the Obscenity Commission came about as Hahn began a detailed review of the functions and accomplishments of each of the more than 100 advisory commissions, boards, and committees in county government.

This review has already resulted in disbarring five such commissions because they have either accomplished their purpose or were not accomplishing anything.

SET FOR close scrutiny in the future are five more—Badge Control Committee, Forms Committee, Health Services Planning Committee, Horticultural Advisory Committee, and Loyalty Check Committee.

Hahn's efforts in culling commissions has been commended by the County Citizens Economy and Efficiency Committee.

Basketball Clinic Set

Valuable tips will be offered area boys 10 through 14 years old in a basketball clinic next month at Normandale Recreation Center, 22500 S. Halldale Ave.

Four sessions will be offered in the clinic to be held during the first two weeks of December at Stephen Whit Junior High School, 22302 S. Figueroa St. according to Tom George, recreation director.

Each session will last from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. All sessions will be free. The first session Dec. 2 will deal with tips on diet, conditioning and equipment maintenance.

Tips on ball handling, correct shooting and passing techniques will be the main topics of the second session, Dec. 4.

Feigning, dribbling, and offense tactics will be covered in the third session Dec. 9.

The last session on Dec. 11 will stress defense techniques, George said.

Interested boys should call the center for registration details.
